The Corporate Fitbit: Monitoring Your Company's Health, Turnover and the Employee Feedback Loop

"[...] Chason Hecht is the CEO of Retensa, a company created initially to focus on identifying retention issues by diagnosing what causes the departures. Interestingly, Hecht started his career at a company where no one left, which gave him a unique perspective: Even now, turnover is not a given, especially for those people you really want to keep. [...]"

"[...] Retensa isn't just focused on people leaving. How do you discover what is causing turnover at a company?"

Turnover is a great indicator of the health of an organization. However, it's obviously a symptom, not the cause. To make a diagnosis, we look at what we call the Emergent Employee Lifecycle. It is not just about any employee's departure and the associated exit interview. We look at the sum of the moments of the employment cycle from beginning to end to monitor how each key milestone is handled – from on boarding and getting a promotion, to when someone is given a major project. One Downside of an Up Economy: Employee Turnover

"[...] "It's the No. 1 issue for H.R. professionals," said Chason Hecht, president of Retensa, an employee retention consulting firm. Mr. Hecht said the problem was "pervasive across industries, but some are hit harder than others — like health care," which is scrambling to find and keep people to deal with an aging population. [...]"

"[...] "Everyone still wants to love and be inspired by their job," Mr. Hecht said. "What has changed is that people have a lower tolerance than ever if they don't feel fulfilled." [...]"

"[...] Instead, Mr. Hecht said, companies need to have a continuing conversation with employees to understand their changing needs and expectations.

According to Mr. Hecht: "Bosses need to say, 'You tell me what quality of life looks like to you. You tell me if you're better off with a gym membership or a dog walker or dry cleaning. I can't give you all three, but I can give you one.' " [...]"

How Low-Cost Perks Can Help Boost Employee Retention

“[...] Meals—including breakfasts for team building and company-sponsored dinners to reward employees for working late—are low-cost perks suggested by Nadia Eran, talent management consultant for New York City-based employee retention consulting firm Retensa. [...]”

“[...] Eran also says firms can get good mileage out of granting employees unlimited unpaid vacation time. She isn't as favorable about unlimited paid vacation, and suggests firms encourage vacationing employees to ensure that work they would be responsible for will be completed in their absence. [...]”

“[...] However, if a business has a goal and asks employees which perks to offer, low-cost perks can be part of encouraging a more-engaged workforce.

“Every employee will appreciate that you asked them what they wanted and you gave it to them,” Eran says. [...]”

Healthcare agencies re-evaluate tactics to retain talent

“[...] Da Yu, a talent-management consultant with Retensa Retention Strategies, favors more frequent surveys to monitor employee engagement.

“We usually take a data-centric approach to employee retention,” he explains. “We encourage a system that supports more frequent and brief conversations.” To that end, his company has helped clients transition from an 80-question annual survey to a 10-question survey every month. [...]”

“[...] “There's no one strategy for 5,000 people,” says Yu. “Millennials may have very different opinions toward tech and work flexibility compared to baby boomers. [...]”

Rethinking Retention

"[...] Conventional wisdom says that Millennials won't stay loyal to one employer for long. Hecht, president and founder of human resource consulting firm Retensa, sees things differently.

"There's very little evidence that Millennials lack loyalty," he said. "What they lack is a tolerance for boredom. They lack a tolerance for discontentment, disengagement, for feeling disconnected from their peers, community, and society." [...]"

"[...]The next step, Hecht said, is to use the data you continually gather to plan ways to give employees what they value at different points during their tenure. "At each stage of the employee life cycle your workforce is either being engaged and appreciated, developing trust in you—or they're not," he observed. [...]"

"[...] Your first step, Hecht said, should be to determine what aspects of your culture set you apart as an organization—"what you provide, where you excel in supporting, engaging, and delivering to your workforce," he said. [...]"

What is ExitPro®?

ExitPro manages the employee separation process so that HR leaders can get insights to predict and prevent employee turnover. The cloud-based Software as a Service (SaaS) platform automates the exit interview process, centralizes the insights and predicts turnover. In addition to streamlining and ensuring offboarding tasks, ExitPro helps organizations better understand opportunities, possible weaknesses, and threats to retaining top talent. By using ExitPro, organizations can create a workplace where valued employees are engaged and inspired, because HR has the tools to measure, manage, and address costly turnover.

Why does it exist?

With the escalating cost of voluntary and involuntary staff turnover (aka "Attrition", or "Separations"), ExitPro is the most comprehensive employee separation technology to pinpoint and address the root causes of why employees leave. Users of ExitPro will be able to:

1. Compare voluntary and involuntary employee separations
2. Capture the top 1, 2, and 3 reasons high performers give for separating
3. Track employee demographic trends in easy-to-understand graphs and charts
4. Manages ongoing correspondence between the organization and separating employees
5. Secure staff documentation for legal defense
6. Compare profit, revenue, and expenses among units that use and do not use ExitPro
7. Run customized reports across departments, titles, locations, and business units
8. Collaborate with our retention experts to calibrate the right blend of exit interview questions for the company's culture.
9. Automate exit interview deployment leading to fast and accurate process to simplify HR team's effort

ExitPro was created to operate without external consultants needed to interpret results. The user-first design allows unprecedented ease of implementation across multinational enterprises. Tested by Industrial/Organizational Psychologists and HR experts, this web-based software reduces overhead by capturing critical tasks and trends that would otherwise take hundreds of work hours to mine and report.

What does this software provide?

Most organizations do not completely understand all the activity that a separation requires, or why their employees resign. ExitPro is a self-contained tool that organizations of any size can use to automate the entire separation process and analyze employees' reasons for leaving. ExitPro's Direct-to-Inbox™ technology automatically:

1. Sends resignation letters
2. Emails exit interviews to separating employees in 15 Seconds
3. Informs management of all resignations
4. Emails human resources, managers and executives turnover trend reports to help them get predictive

What is TalentPulse®?

TalentPulse is the World's 1st "Touchfree" Employee Feedback Platform. TalentPulse specializes in quick and easy automatic survey deployment. By asking the right questions at the right time, leadership automates the actionable intelligence to affect real change in real time. It is a cloud-based Software as a Service (SaaS) platform that captures accurate employee insights at each stage of employee lifecycle.

Why use TalentPulse?

TM teams spend a lot of time in making, building, loading, testing, sending and gathering employee feedback. TalentPulse is the self-driving car of surveys so HR teams can spend time transforming their organization from results rather than waiting for answers. TalentPulse clients can:

1. Get solutions customized to their company
2. Have flexibility to change options any time
3. Rapidly gather feedback across Employee Lifecycle from Applicant to Alumni
4. Access red flags and outliers instantly using Predictive Analytics (data presentation, easy to interpret, understand and apply)
5. Get automated and real-time delivery of reports "Direct-to-Inbox"
6. Benchmark individuals, teams, or divisions, using 360, Upward Evaluation success
7. Interface with any HRIS system in minutes for real-time data updates

How is TalentPulse different from ExitPro?

ExitPro is a module of TP. ExitPro manages the employee separation process so that leaders can understand, track, and reduce employee turnover. TalentPulse captures employee's feedback throughout its journey in the organization. The concept of measuring annual "employee satisfaction" does not meet today's fast-paced work environment. Rapidly changing "satisfaction" agents, and critical issues are lost if not pulsed regularly.

TalentPulse and ExitPro are built to work together to flex to every goal and objective, organization's concerns, industry, and employees.

Retensa's suite of tools mines the tapestry of data to predict and prevent breakdowns in the employee experience.
